

CFO Finance Reporting Base Team – Business Analyst position

Apply for a challenging position in Deloitte CFO Services

About the position

We are increasingly seeing that the CFO "market" demands people who can combine profound academic economic understanding, with some technical know-how.

The CFO Finance Reporting Base Team is a part of CFO Services under Deloitte Consulting. The team helps our clients to deliver value through technical solutions by exploiting their data in the best possible way. From standard reports to dynamic app-based dashboards. Apart from reporting models, process optimizing applications as well as internal best practice models, are also a frequent deliverable.

Your tasks will include:

- Development of finance models and reporting applications
- Optimize & automate financial processes
- Assist on small/medium size finance projects
- Contribute to our best practices within model building and reporting
- Develop the reporting base team concept & business

In other words, this is a developmental and not an operational-oriented job.

Furthermore, the job will include a high level of continuous sparring and feedback from Senior & Team Lead.

Whether your line of study is finance, business, IT, science or something completely different is not the most important factor. We are more interested in your strong analytical skills combined with an engaged, structured and curious personality
